Academic Projects and Papers

2024 - 2025	Service Sector, Globalization and Structural Features of a Developing Economy: A Trade Theoretic General Equilibrium Analysis. Developed a hybrid general equilibrium model capturing structural shifts in a developing economy, showing that FDI-driven service sector expansion reallocates skilled labour, alters sectoral output, and reinforces India's service-led growth trajectory.
2024 - 2025	Importance of Valuation of Capture Fishery: A Case Study from Diamond Harbour. Conducted a field-based economic valuation study on Diamond Harbour fisheries using Contingent Valuation and Travel Cost Methods and analyzed sustainability, overfishing trends, tourism impact, and market improvements, delivering actionable policy recommendations for sustainable fishing and community livelihood enhancement.
2024 - 2025	India's Large Oil Imports and Inclination towards Oil Exports: Is it feasible in the face of Significant Changes in the Global Economy? Delivered actionable insights on the volatility of India's oil dependence, linking empirical results with geopolitical, economic and policy-driven disruptions in international markets, using time series analysis and econometric tools.
2024 - 2025	Structural Hollowing or Synergy? Servicification and Manufacturing Performance in India using a Panel Data Analysis of State-Level GSVA . Conducted a panel-data study across Indian states to assess how servicification shapes manufacturing performance. Found that rising service intensity reduces manufacturing productivity, while capital intensity strongly enhances it.
