

The figure consists of 10 vertically stacked diagrams, numbered 1 to 10. Each diagram shows a collection of dots representing particles. In diagram 1, there are 10 dots arranged in a loose, irregular pattern. As the diagrams progress, the dots begin to move and interact. In diagram 2, some dots are closer together. In diagram 3, a small cluster of three dots is visible. In diagram 4, the cluster has grown to four dots. In diagram 5, the cluster is now five dots. In diagram 6, the cluster has grown to six dots. In diagram 7, the cluster is now seven dots. In diagram 8, the cluster is now eight dots. In diagram 9, the cluster is now nine dots. In diagram 10, the cluster is now ten dots, and the dots are arranged in a more compact, circular pattern. The diagrams illustrate the process of cluster formation and growth over time.
